

Department of Political Science
Penn State University
Application for Summer Program Support

The Department of Political Science offers financial assistance to all graduate students in good standing to attend at least one summer program that is important to their program of study (e.g., the political psychology program at Stanford, methods courses at ICPSR, foreign language programs).

Application Procedure: Submit the application form (attached) and a copy of your CV to Kristy Boob by March 15, 2023.

Applicants must discuss their summer program plans with their faculty advisor and obtain the advisor's approval (via signature) of this application.

Applicant: _____

Name of Program: _____

Program Location: _____

Program Length/Dates of Attendance: _____

Please describe briefly the program you plan to attend and indicate how it will benefit your program of study.

What is the cost of participation in the program? (Note: Penn State is a member of the Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC), an academic consortium of the Big Ten Universities, plus The University of Chicago, the University of Illinois at Chicago, and the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee. A Penn State tuition waiver typically covers tuition for programs sponsored by CIC members. It does not cover tuition at ICPSR.)

Does the program offer financial assistance to participants? If so, please describe the nature of this assistance and indicate whether you will apply (or have applied) for it.

I understand that, for all domestic and international travel that begins on June 1, 2021 or later, all employees requesting University-affiliated travel that involves University funding must be fully vaccinated against COVID-19 by the date of departure. More information is available here:
